

Microsoft Offers Two Windows XP Tablet PC Edition Applications Developed by Leszynski Group

Tablet PC customers able to download PowerToys starting today

NEW YORK — November 7, 2002 — Leszynski Group, a premier provider of custom software development and consulting services, today announced that Microsoft Corp. (NASDAQ: MSFT) will make available two software PowerToys for Windows XP Tablet PC Edition — Snipping Tool for the Tablet PC and Tablet Pool. These PowerToys were designed by Microsoft and Leszynski Group, and developed by Leszynski Group.

Microsoft Snipping Tool for the Tablet PC is a productivity utility that allows people to quickly circle, annotate, and e-mail any content displayed on the screen of a Tablet PC, using only a digital pen. Microsoft Tablet Pool is a live-action, multi-user billiards game played on the Tablet PC by using the digital pen as a cue. These applications are being demonstrated at multiple Windows XP Tablet PC Edition launch events throughout the United States.

“Leszynski Group took Microsoft’s high-level product concept and design input, and working closely with Microsoft, developed downloadable applications, Snipping Tool for the Tablet PC and Tablet Pool,” said Alexandra Loeb, vice president of the Tablet PC division at Microsoft Corp. “These two applications validate the unique and versatile ways in which a Tablet PC and digital ink can enhance a customer’s computing experience.”

“Leszynski Group has a ten-year relationship with Microsoft as an internal development consultant, solution provider, and ISV,” said Stan Leszynski, CEO of Leszynski Group. “We were delighted when they asked us to create these PowerToys.

Leveraging Visual Studio .NET and the Tablet PC SDK to create Snipping Tool for the Tablet PC and Tablet Pool was one of the coolest software development experiences we've had in years. In the past ten months, we have mastered digital ink development, and have created articles and code samples to share our knowledge with other Tablet PC developers.”

Microsoft has posted Snipping Tool for the Tablet PC and Tablet Pool for free public download through its Web site at www.microsoft.com/tabletpc.
